United States Will Not Act
Until Well Informed of What Took Place at the Polls

WILSON AT WORK ON PLAN

President Is Working on Plan by Which He Hopes to Solve the Troubles of Mexico—
To Contain Statement of U. S. Policy

FOREIGN POWERS AWAIT STATEMENT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—President Wilson let it be known today that he was waiting for things to take definite shape in Mexico as a result of the election last Sunday, and that the United States government would not act until informed in detail of what took place at the polls.

Recently, the president in a note to the Mexican foreign office, transmitted by Charge O'Shaughnessy, declared that the election of October 26 would not be considered constitutional by the United States. How long the United States will wait for the returns is not known. It is believed that several days, perhaps weeks, will elapse before the United States government will be able to make an official statement of the results, although Nov. 10 was the day set for the counting of ballots.

No positive information as to the government's future course was divulged at the white house. The president informed those who discussed the situation with him that he had not decided whether the next step would be known by words or action. He is at work on a plan by which he hopes to solve the troubles of Mexico. One of the features of it is a formal statement of the aims and purposes of the United States, its stand against the influence of material interest in Latin-American affairs, its devotion to the cause of constitutional government, and its belief that a fair and free election with safeguards and guarantees must be held in order to establish a legal authority in the southern republic.

This statement of the government's attitude, already outlined in the president's speeches at Mobile and Swarthmore, in all probability will be communicated to Mexico and a copy of these views transmitted to foreign governments generally as an expression of policy by the Washington administration.

May Recognize Rebels.

Whether the statement of the government policy will be addressed to John Lind or Charge O'Shaughnessy for presentation to the Huerta government is not yet apparent. It has been suggested that future communications may also be addressed in some way to the constitutionalists in the problem of pacification.

In official circles there was no definite information current on the administration's plans. Many conversant with the situation insist that any new plan must have as its fundamental some method of eliminating Huerta before the constitutionalists would even consent to talking peace or elections.

The attitude of the European powers was explained as awaiting the policy of the United States. Inquiry as to whether the United States had secured the cooperation of the United States, but that at present were not standing in the way of the American government.

Are Kept in Suspense.

MEXICO CITY, Mex., Oct. 30.—With the election of General Victoriano Huerta and General Aureliano Blanquet almost a foregone conclusion, according to the official returns, the question as to what Washington proposes to do, is keeping the foreign residents and the majority of Mexicans in a state of painful suspense. The administration is giving little attention to this situation, seemingly taking the ground that the Mexican people have declared in favor of Huerta's continuance in the presidency.

In view of Washington's previous representations on the subject, the next move of the American government is awaited here with no little misgivings. Many Americans have already packed their portable belongings, preparatory to flight and are facing the necessity of leaving their household effects to fate. They express little hope of finding anything left upon their return. The inadequate storage facilities are already overtaxed and most of those who contemplate flight expect to leave their homes in charge of Mexican care-takers as the only alternative.

What the new Mexican congress will do with reference to the elections no one undertakes to predict.

Will Get no Assistance.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Americans desiring to go to Mexico will receive no assistance or encouragement from the administration. This became known today when President Wilson declined to accept the request of Representative Mann of Illinois, Republican leader in the house, that the United States company be per-

MINE OPERATORS WILL MAKE FINAL EFFORT

WILL MAKE LAST ATTEMPT TO INDUCE STRIKERS TO RETURN TO WORK

Copper Mine Operators Will Re-employ All Strikers Who Give Up Their Memberships in Western Federation and Who Have Not Been Participants in any Violence.

CALUMET, Mich., Oct. 30.—What is announced as the final effort of the copper mine operators in this district to induce their striking employees to return to work will be made tomorrow through the medium of the Copper Country Commercial Club.

A statement from the mining companies will be published by the club in the local press to the effect that strikers who apply for their old positions will be re-employed provided they give up their memberships in the Western Federation of Miners and have not been participants in any violence during the strike.

The concession of the eight-hour day to be put into effect in January has already been granted by the operators. If the strikers remain loyal to the Western Federation of Miners, the importation of men will continue and the working forces brought up to normal as rapidly as possible.

Holds Command in Camp.

Trinidad, Colo., Oct. 30.—Apprehension of outbreaks between striking miners and mine guards, accentuated by an attack upon the strikers' colony at Aguilar this morning, caused Adjutant General Chase in command of the Colorado national guard encamped here, to hold the entire command in the military camp today.

Excitement in Trinidad increased and the presence of a troop on the street was the incentive to strikers to shout abuse upon him and the entire national guard.

Late today information was received at the Delagua camp that it would be assaulted before morning. The mine guards there deserted the camp, leaving only a few non-union miners to defend it.

Demand Recognition.

Indianapolis, Oct. 30.—Demands were made late today by a committee from the employees of the city street railway and traction lines upon the traction officials for recognition of the newly formed union, increase in wages, shorter hours and arbitration of all differences. The men requested that an answer be given by noon tomorrow.

Whether a strike will be called probably will be determined at a meeting which has been called for tomorrow night, in which representatives of all unions in Indianapolis will participate.

SENSATIONAL CHARGES ARE FILED AGAINST T.J. O'GARA

Important Eastern Stockholders
Ask That He Be Relieved as a Receiver of the O'Gara Coal Company.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—Sensational charges were filed against Thomas J. O'Gara, president of the O'Gara Coal company, before Judge Landis in the United States district court today.

The company went into bankruptcy six weeks ago and Judge Carpenter appointed O'Gara and former Mayor Fred Busse receivers. Important eastern stockholders, including Amos R. E. Pinchot and Albert B. Kerr, of New York City, and William B. Kerr of Syracuse, now ask that O'Gara be relieved as a receiver and make charges as follows:

That O'Gara is under indictment in the federal court charged with receiving rebates from railroads.

That the financial difficulties of the company are due to his mismanagement.

That he diverted funds of the company to his personal use.

That he has retained $400,000 due the company as commissions on the sale of coal taken from the O'Gara mines.

That he used the company's credit to borrow money for himself without knowledge of the directors.

That he used men and equipment of the company in his private enterprises.

SEEKS RESTORATION OF OFFICE TO SULZER

NEW YORK PRINTER FILES REMARKABLE PETITION IN FEDERAL COURT

Wants Glynn Enjoined From Exercising Any of the Functions of Governor—Says Government Has Passed From People to Small Group of Citizens.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—The conviction of William Sulzer by the high court of impeachment and his removal from office as governor of New York, was thrown into federal courts for review today by William H. Moore, a printer of this city.

In a remarkable petition, Moore alleges that the control of the government of the state of New York has passed from the people to a small group of citizens and that consequently New York is no longer enjoying a Republican form of government as guaranteed by the federal constitution.

Moore seeks to have court enjoin Martin H. Glynn from exercising any of the functions of governor, prays for the restoration of the office to Sulzer, attacks the assembly for arrogating to itself the power to convene in extraordinary session and pass articles of impeachment and concludes his petition with a prayer for an audit of all the state books.

Members of the court of impeachment, Governor Glynn, Attorney General Carmody, Secretary of State May and Sulzer himself are named as defendants. Why Sulzer was made a defendant is not clear.

Sulzer, engaged in the height of a campaign for election to the assembly on the Progressive ticket, expressed surprise at the filing of the suit.

Shorn of its verbiage, the petition charges a certain group of men, consisting partly of defendants, and partly of men unnamed, with having obtained control of the state, for their sole use and benefit.

Moore denied that there was any politics behind his suit. He said that he had conceived the idea and submitted the petition to several attorneys who agreed that it had a substantial basis.

"If I lose in the district court," he said, "I expect to appeal and lay the whole impeachment question before the supreme court."

He confirmed Sulzer's declaration that the former governor knew nothing about the suit before it was filed.

Moore had been active in Democratic politics and in the typographical union. He never held office, although he was a candidate for appointment by Governor Sulzer as a state labor commissioner.

The publishers of the New York World said that although Moore was one of their employees they did not know he was to bring the suit and that the newspaper was in no way connected with it.

Continues Campaigning.

William Sulzer continued his campaigning tonight in the district where he is running for election to the state assembly on the progressive ticket.

"The real struggle between Murphy and me," he said, "will start the first day after election day. Then I am going into every county in the state. I am going to arouse public opinion against Murphy all over the state until there shall be an end of Murphy."

JURY ACQUITS ROSENTHAL OF WHITE SLAVERY CHARGE

Actor Was Accused of Taking Margaret Helbig From Philadelphia to Baltimore for Immoral Purposes.

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 30.—Grover C. Rosenthal, an actor of New York, charged with violation of the Mann white slave act was acquitted today in the federal district court.

The jury deliberated only five minutes. Rosenthal's wife and child were in court. He was charged with bringing Margaret Helbig from Philadelphia to this city for immoral purposes.

He said he and the young woman were on the stage together and registered at boarding houses as husband and wife, but his attorney, in his argument, laid stress on the claim that there had been no attempt on the part of the accused to use the girl for commercial purposes.

In his charge to the jury, Judge Rose held that the defendant had violated the Mann act, as he construed it, if the jury believed beyond a reasonable doubt "that one of the purposes he had in mind when he brought this girl into the state of Maryland was to continue relations that had existed between them while together elsewhere. Neither the character of the girl nor her past life are to be considered in determining the case."

CENTRAL BANK PLAN PREVENTS PROGRESS

Committee Adjourns After All Day Discussion of Number of Regional Banks to Be Created

EXPECT DECISION TODAY

Senator Owen, Leading Administration Adherents of Committee, Proposes That Number Be Reduced from 12 to 10

NELSON WANTS NUMBER FIXED AT FOUR

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30.—The proposed government-controlled central bank plan again today prevented progress in the senate committee's consideration of the administration currency bill. After an all-day discussion of the number of regional banks to be created to administer the proposed new system, the committee adjourned tonight without taking a vote on a single proposition. Members of the committee said that a decision was expected tomorrow.

Discussion of the question involved any number of regional banks from three to fifteen. Senator Owen, leading the administration adherents on the committee proposed that the number be reduced from 12 to 10. This was accepted as the extent to which the president is willing to go in his concession, that the number should be reduced.

Senator Nelson, from the Republican side, proposed in a resolution that the number be fixed at four. Senator O'Gorman proposed five and after a long argument, it was agreed to vote on a resolution fixing the number at four. Before the vote could be taken, however, another proposition brought the committee back to its original ground of disagreement, the proposed central bank, on which members are equally divided. It was proposed that regional reserve branches be established in each of the 47 reserve cities throughout the country, with as extensive powers as possible. These banks would be supervised by the federal reserve board which would locate a regional bank in Washington to act as a clearing house, reserve center and a bank of issue for all of the regional banks. The administration supporters declared that this was but a disguised central bank scheme and the argument continued until the committee adjourned.

The committee did not take up the question of eliminating the secretary of the treasury from the proposed federal reserve board, which was passed over when the secretary of the currency were taken off yesterday. The administration is understood to oppose vigorously depriving the secretary of the treasury of a place on the board and the committee will go over the matter later.

The plan to create a clearing house in Washington and regional banks in each of the reserve cities was presented by Senator Reed of Missouri. Senator Reed is one of the six Democrats who have supported the administration regional bank plan as against a government-controlled central bank. There was considerable discussion tonight of the possibility of supporters of the central bank theory giving their aid to Senator Reed's proposition. This would give the Reed scheme a majority in the committee which so far has been evenly divided.

CONDITION OF MRS. HENNING TAKES TURN FOR THE WORSE

Physicians Inform Judge Pam it Might Be Some Days Before She Can Resume the Witness Stand.

Chicago, Oct. 30.—The condition of Mrs. John C. Henning, chief witness for the state in the case of Daniel Donahoe and Isaac Stiefel, charged with conspiring to defame Clarence S. Funk, took a turn for the worse today. Her physicians told Judge Pam that it might be some days before she can resume the witness stand.

Reading of transcripts of evidence taken at the alienation suit filed against Funk by John C. Henning was resumed.

Dennis Martin, a hotel bellboy, who was to have been one of the important witnesses for the prosecution, could not be found today and detectives from the state's attorney's office are searching for him.

MRS. JENNIE MAY EATON IS ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

DECLARES RYAN REAL LEADER OF DYNAMITERS

ATTORNEY MILLER OPPOSES APPEALS OF CONVICTED LABOR LEADERS

District Attorney Asserts President of the Iron Workers' Union Was "Real Leader of Dynamiting Squad"—Denies Assertions That Men Did Not Have Fair Trial.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 30.—District Attorney Charles W. Miller of Indianapolis, opposing the appeals of the thirty labor union officials convicted in the dynamite conspiracy, before the United States circuit court of appeals today declared that Frank M. Ryan, now president of the Iron Workers' union had been "the real leader of the dynamiting squad."

Ryan, who was sentenced to seven years, but was released on bond pending the appeal, was among those in the court. Mr. Miller contended that Ryan was the iron workers' executive board, and that the board by appropriating money enabled the McNamara's to carry on the dynamiting campaign. The district attorney also asserted that Herbert S. Hokin, now serving six years in Leavenworth, Kan., was as guilty as the McNamara brothers.

Hokin is the only one of the convicted men who did not join with the others in the appeal.

Mr. Miller denied assertions by counsel for the men that they did not have fair trial at Indianapolis. He declared that was no basis for the insinuating by opposing counsel that the men had been poorly defended.

Judge Francis E. Baker, after stating from the bench that it had been amply shown that many laws for the protection of life and property had been violated, said he would ask the government to offer proof that the federal government had not reached beyond its jurisdiction and because of the enormity and number of the explosions had punished for crimes punishable by various states. Mr. Miller said such proof would be given before the argument on the appeal is concluded tomorrow.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION DISCHARGES 17 STATE EMPLOYEES

Were Members of So-called Denoon Administration "Midnight Club"—Several Re-instatements Are Ordered.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—Seventeen state employees, members of the so-called Denoon administration "midnight club," were discharged today from the state civil service commission. All of those discharged were suspended when an investigation was started several weeks ago, together with four other employees were today ordered reinstated.

Those removed from the pay-roll are: Albert Erickson, chief clerk and William H. Durant, inspector, in the office of the state food commissioner; Chicago; and Henry Aultman, J. J. Barnett, J. B. Bauer, W. L. Blaine, Eli Blatchford, Henry Dynclock, W. D. Harris, Hilmer Holm, A. C. James, E. H. Laude, Arthur Manger, Katherine Nagel, Nathius Moller, Joseph Roder and A. J. Schaefer in the office of the chief inspector of grain in Chicago.

Reinstatement in the state service, with full pay from the date of suspension was ordered in the case of R. T. Johnston, inspector, Ben H. Harrison, chemist, and Charles Wandrack, inspector in the office of the state food commissioner and Frank Goebl, clerk in the office of the chief inspector of grain.

As a result of the hearings conducted by the commission in these cases, it was determined that all the persons except the four who were reinstated, were not holding their present positions in accordance with the provisions of the state civil service law which went into effect at midnight on June 30, 1911. It is claimed the seventeen appointments were made in evasion of the law.

TO ASK SUPREME COURT TO RELIEVE SITUATION

REPRESENTATIVES OF FIFTEEN DISTRICTS ORGANIZE

Will Enlist State-wide Aid in Solving Dilemma Brought About by Court's Decision That 1911 Township High School Law Is Unconstitutional.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Oct. 30.—The supreme court of Illinois will be asked to relieve an embarrassing situation brought about in the high school districts of the state by its decision that the township high school law of 1911 is unconstitutional. Representatives of fifteen of the thirty-six districts affected by the decision gathered in Springfield today and organized for the purpose of enlisting state-wide aid in solving the unpleasant dilemma which involves districts organized under the 1911 acts.

Twenty-four members of boards of education or their attorneys attended the session at the St. Nicholas hotel. They came in response to a call issued by the legal representatives of the East Moline high school district. The supreme court at the recently ended term, granted a re-hearing in the case and it is the hope of the districts affected to secure a decision in favor of their organization.

Delegates to the meeting declared that the emergency is one of the most serious that has faced the school interests of this state in years. The importance of the act of 1911 in high school development is evidenced, they point out, by the fact that thirty-six districts have been organized or their organization begun in the two years since the act was passed. In addition to this number, many other district organizations were projected.

A permanent organization among the representatives present at the meeting was effected by the election of Prof. H. A. Hollister, high school visitor for the University of Illinois, as chairman, and Superintendent E. G. Lantz of Marion as secretary. Prof. Hollister, Representative R. S. Jones of Flora and Albert Martin of Hinsdale were named as a committee on publicity.

COMMISSIONERS ADOPT SUBSTITUTE RESOLUTION

National Association of Railway Commissioners Adopt Substitute Unanimously.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Another determined effort late today to have the so-called "states rights" resolution adopted by the National Association of Railway Commissioners resulted in the adoption of a substitute, which without going into constitutional questions declared it "the sense of this association that no legislation by congress is at this time necessary or desirable attempting to enlarge the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission over commerce purely intra-state."

The vote was unanimous after a spirited debate which started when the convention again took up the "states rights" resolution, introduced yesterday and tabled by a vote of 29 to 19. This would have asserted the right of the states to exercise their constitutional authority over intra-state commerce without hindrance from the federal government. Those who favored the original resolution contended that a concerted effort was being made to debase the state commissions of rate-making authority and to centralize such powers in the interstate commerce commission. Commissioner Thorne, of Iowa, declared that interstate rates should conform to reasonable state made intra-state rates.

"I want to see home rule protected permanently," he said. "The supreme court has sustained that view and I think it would be a backward step not to take definite action here. I want to back up the proposition taken by this association in the past."

After practically an all day discussion of the many phases of the physical valuation the exhaustive report on the subject from Commissioner Malloy's commission was ordered printed.

A resolution by Commissioner Thorne providing for a committee of fifteen, to be selected three each from the five geographical districts fixed by the interstate commerce commission for its valuation work, to cooperate with the commission in its work of valuing the railroad property of the country was adopted.

The members of the Dominion board of railroad commissioners of Canada were admitted as active members of the federation.

VERDICT AGAINST RICH EX-BANKER

Jury Returns Verdict of $40,000 Against W. R. Jameson, Wealthy Waterloo Financier

ACTION BASED UPON FRAUD

Letter Written by Jameson to Farmers' Savings Bank Represents Granite Co. to Be "Reliable" When He Knew Otherwise

BANK SEEKS TO RECOVER $50,000

WATERLOO, Iowa, Oct. 30.—A verdict of $40,000 was returned by a jury in court today against W. R. Jameson, a wealthy ex-banker in this city. The action was brought by the Farmers' Savings Bank of Morris, Iowa, and was based upon fraud and deceit. Mr. Jameson wrote the cashier of the Morris bank a letter in which he introduced E. A. Boggs former president of the Central Iowa Granite company and stated that Mr. Boggs and the granite company were "thoroughly reliable and good for any arrangements they may make with you." The bank claimed that on the strength of this recommendation, the cashier loaned Mr. Boggs over $65,000 all of which was lost when the granite company failed.

A damage action was then commenced against Mr. Jameson, it being alleged that he had written the letter at a time when he knew the granite company and Mr. Boggs were insolvent. The bank sought to recover $50,000. Witnesses testified as to the financial responsibility of the granite company, all claiming that it was poor at the time the letter was written. Letters were introduced showing that at the time Jameson wrote the letter, he was endeavoring to collect $2,500 from the granite company for another banking institution and had written the bank that he was unable to secure a payment on the account and that suit had been filed against the concern.

The defense offered no testimony. It developed during the trial that the Morris bank was capitalized at $10,000 but had loaned Mr. Boggs over $65,000. The defense claimed that even though the jury found the plaintiff the amount could not be more than $2,000 the amount which the bank was permitted under the law to loan. The court ruled that even though the bank had loaned in excess of twenty percent of its capitalization, this was no bar to the amount of liability on the part of the defendant. This is the largest amount ever returned in an action in this court.

Mr. Jameson is wealthy. He has been associated with banking institutions all his life. He organized two banking institutions in this city, later disposing of his holdings to other banks. He is prominent in church and temperance circles and is well known throughout Iowa. A motion will be made for re-trial, and if denied an appeal will be taken to the supreme court.

PHOTOGRAPHS SHOW GROWTH OF GATES MANSION.

Foster Renwick, Well Known Here Is Superintendent of Construction of Great Dwelling.

The recent sudden death of Charles G. Gates has given special interest to the mansion he was building in Minneapolis. S. O. Barr has in his possession a set of photographs of this great building taken for the contractors, the George A. Fuller Company. It so happens that Foster Renwick, whose wife before her recent death was Miss Helen Barr, has been the superintendent of construction of the mansion for the Fuller company and has been in charge since the day the ground was broken. Photographs in accordance with contractors and architects rules are taken each week to show the progress made. The first one is dated August 1912 and the last one Mr. Barr has was made Oct. 20. At that time the house was enclosed and while considerable work has been done since that time, there still remains much more before the contract will be complete.

As noted in the press dispatches work on the property has been discontinued pending settlement of the Gates estate. The original contract for the house was $450,000, and already there have been extras which will foot up to $100,000 more and it is the expectation that before the final touches are put on that the cost will exceed a million dollars. Still, concrete and marble are practically all of the materials used in the erection of the mansion which gives promise of being one of the most beautiful in the state of Minnesota and the northwest.

DRY AND WET ARGUMENT MADE AT OPERA HOUSE

DEBATE ON LIQUOR QUESTION PROVED SOMEWHAT SPECTACULAR EVENT.

C. A. Windle Presented the Cause of Liquor and Personal Liberty While Judge Cleary Defended Prohibition Rights—Judge Layman and W. N. Hairgrove Introduced Speakers—Great Audience in Attendance.

The great debate at the Grand Opera house between C. A. Windle, as the champion of the anti-local option forces and Senator Cleary as the champion of the local optionists is a thing of the past. A great audience attended and each champion found favor with his own special advocates. William N. Hairgrove introduced Mr. Windle and Judge Layman performed that same function on behalf of Judge Cleary. Both were presented as men of earnestness and courage in espousing the causes which they had been called upon to represent. Others on the platform were Rev. W. A. Gardner and William Newman. By agreement Mr. Windle spoke first for forty-five minutes, then Judge Cleary had the floor for fifty minutes. Mr. Windle was given twenty minutes more, Judge Cleary fifteen minutes and then Mr. Windle five minutes for the closing. Just before the speaking began there was some sharp argument as to just what division of time should be made but the matter was finally settled amicably.

The question for debate was announced by Mr. Hairgrove as "Resolved, that the prohibition of the manufacture and use of intoxicating liquor is wrong in principle, unchristian in character and powerless as a remedy for drunkenness."

Mr. Windle was the first to speak and a large outline of some of his points is given: "Prohibition is wrong in principle and an insult to man's intelligence. It strikes at morals and is contrary to the teachings of the Bible and of Christ. Temperance means self control while prohibition is control by others. I am opposed to prohibition because it is opposed to reason. When a man is sick we give him medicine but we do not force it down his throat. Yet such would be the logic and philosophy of prohibition. Prohibition is founded on a wrong premise. There are just two people engaged in the liquor business, the man behind the bar and the man in front of it. You can vote out the man behind the bar but you cannot vote out the man in front. The saloon is the result of drink and not the cause. Lots of fellows vote dry and live wet."

"Regulation the Needed Thing." "Liquor causes destruction often and so do railroads. We do not put the roads out of business, we regulate them. The error and the evil in the liquor matter is in excess. When you enforce prohibition you weaken a man's character. The fact that Adam and Eve were prohibited from eating a certain fruit in the garden of Eden wrought their destruction. Prohibition is contrary to nature. We look rightly upon a man as a king and sovereign of himself and so he should be. The prohibition idea is well exemplified in the Sunday school parades when one man or woman sits guardian over a load of children. Prohibition assaults the equality of man. It is an immoral proposition because it robs man of personal liberty. Personal liberty is the only usable kind. Prohibition strikes at the basis of morality because it stops the freedom of choice. You cannot have personal responsibility without personal liberty. God made and intended man to stand, but free to fall."

"Must Teach Self Control." "Prohibition confiscates other people's property and that never can be right or justifiable. Prohibition is a menace to mankind. We develop muscle and brain by training and exercise and this is so with character and self control. So prohibition aims at freedom of choice and thus assaults manhood. The boy who is without self control and self restraint is as good as lost. Prohibition is antagonistic to the divine order. God gave us but ten commandments and had he been a prohibitionist he would have given thousands of them. There is as much difference between drinking and drunkenness as there is between eating and gluttony. Prohibition is contrary to the Bible. (Here the speaker read from the Bible the statement of St. Paul that a man should take a little wine for his stomach's sake: Luke 7-23 and 24; John 2; Deuteronomy 14-26). Then Mr. Windle emphasized some of the points already made and gave way to Senator Cleary.

Champion of Drys Introduced. Senator Cleary was introduced by Judge M. T. Layman. In introducing himself, the senator said that he is of pure Irish parentage and a Catholic, the son of parents sincerely devoted to the church. He said that a particularly good opportunity for the observation of the liquor question had been afforded him in early life as a student of medicine and a practicing physician.

"I am with you to discuss the question," "Resolved, That the prohibition of the manufacture and use of intoxicating liquor is wrong in principle, unchristian in character and powerless as a remedy for drunkenness," a question that to you is of great importance, which you will be called to decide upon for the fourth time. Locally applied, it resolves itself into the question, 'Shall we as citizens of Jacksonville permit the existence of the licensed saloon?'

"This is a question not only of reason but of morals. Shall you as a governing body of citizens, established in your midst this institution which for six years you have been without? Is it right for you to employ the power of the state to license the sale of intoxicant? I contend that the assumption by the state of restraining and prohibiting powers is in line with all government, that the trend of civilization itself, that the arguments of my opponent are anarchistic, unmoral and unchristian. There is not a decree or law in existence that does not express in some way a restraint or a prohibition. The carrying of concealed weapons, not essentially immoral, is prohibited for the good of society—a restraint, if you please, on personal liberty.

Community Has Right to Rule.

"No one except the barbarian denies the right of the organized community to rule individuals for the good of the entire community. There is not a single thing in the state worth enjoying that is not subject to the regulation of the state. If a contagious disease breaks out, the state steps in, for the benefit of society as a whole. The first law of which we have record, that handed down from Sinai, is stated as a series of negations—'Thou shalt not.' All history confirms the proposition that the state has the right to rule its members for the good of the whole.

"My opponent says that for you not to permit saloons is wrong. Then for six years you have been committing a wrong. He spoke of the example of Jesus Christ. I have never heard of the Master engaged in the business of keeping a grog shop. If in any way the saloon is harmful to your health or morals, then I maintain that it is right for government to step in.

"The proposition states that the appetite for drink is inborn in man and that in some way he will find a means to gratify it. There is no proof that the appetite for liquor is hereditary. Ask the drunkard who blames his appetite for whiskey on his father why it is that his sisters haven't the thirst also. It is not through heredity that the appetite is acquired but through the open saloon in a social way. In the town from which I came, I have observed the corruption of the youth, brought down by the example of companions in attending this 'school of infamy.'

"If the prohibition of the sale of liquor is wrong, then the majority of the preachers, the professional moral teachers of the community, are wrong. The Mother church, in which I was reared, and whose precepts I follow, is wrong. The ancient order of Masons, as well as the Odd Fellows, the Knights of Pythias and the Woodmen, all of whom exclude liquor dealers from their membership, are wrong. The Catholic Order of Foresters, who at first permitted their membership, at last debarred the keepers of saloons.

"The Lodge Ban on Liquor." "The Knights of Columbus deny the saloon keeper the privilege of membership and do not permit the serving of liquor at their banquets. It is only the Elks (that band of speed boys), the Eagles and the Owls, who have not followed in this regard the rest of the social and fraternal orders. If prohibition is wrong the present attitude of the railroad companies and the business houses all over the country in requiring abstinence is wrong. Civilization on every hand is putting the ban on the sale of liquor.

"On Tuesday next we put this matter to the final test of the vote. Bear in mind that the charge that prohibition does not prohibit is false in its context, November 3. He went on to say that Senator Cleary didn't stick to the question and didn't meet his arguments. "If the temperance which he really argued for is right, then prohibition for which he argued is wrong. Instead of an argument for prohibition, a large part of my opponent's speech was in favor of regulation, in which we all believe. It is true that the state steps in when contagion breaks out, it may regulate it by quarantine. It does not prohibit me from ever seeing my child again. Christ did not perpetrate a fraud. He sanctified the use of wine by the miracle at the marriage feast and the wine was not merely grape juice, as prohibitionists represent, but according to the testimony of the Bible itself, was the real intoxicating beverage.

"There are some things which the law can not do, which the majority may not demand. The majority must not say what he'll do, how I shall cast my ballot, what woman I shall marry or how I shall worship my God. All these things belong to the realm of personal liberty.

Liquor and Drugs Not to Be Compared.

"Liquor is not to be compared to morphine and cocaine. While a hundred men may enter a saloon and not but one abuse the right, practically all who tamper with these habit forming drugs continue the practice which leads them to destruction. There is no state nor any society in which the rights of ninety-nine men are paramount to the rights of one."

The speaker continued by citing writings of Cardinal Gibbons showing that that Catholic leader is opposed to prohibition, that he is against the passing of laws which are contrary to public opinion and habituate people in the breaking of laws. He said that Abraham Lincoln was opposed to prohibition, that he opposed it in the Illinois legislature and that he was opposed to it until his death. Thomas Jefferson, he continued was an American statesman who stood up for personal liberty and for the natural rights of man which the govern-

FARMERS DO TRADE IN JACKSONVILLE.

I see the saloon people are claiming that farmers beyond a radius of six miles trade little if any in Jacksonville owing to the absence of saloons.

I most emphatically resent this in every particular and a reflection on the agricultural community not deserving any such assertion. I am a native and life long resident of Morgan county and have visited every portion of it a great many times and are especially well able to speak from facts and I am positive that at least 75 per cent of the farmers within a far greater radius than six miles do trade in Jacksonville right along and are not deterred at all by the absence of saloons but on the contrary the absence of drinking places is an attraction to far the greater part of the agricultural community.

An pleasant Saturday see the great number of automobiles stationed about the square and the number of rigs at the livery stables. Ask the owners where they live and you will hear Winchester, Waverly, Litterberry, Arcadia, Alexander, Chapin, Concord, Watson, Murrayville, Virginia, Manchester, Roadhouse, White Hall, Mercedosa, Orleans, Lynnville, Exeter, Franklin, Pisgah or the vicinity of these places all more than six miles distant.

It is a base slander on our farmers to say they want saloons; they do not in any appreciable number for I am one of them and know a host of others and am sure of what I say. It is the brewers, the distillers, the drunkard makers who want saloons back most of all and not the men who cultivate the land or the beautiful county and vicinity in any great numbers.

If the farmers of Morgan county had a chance to vote on the question we would soon see a completely dry county.

Arthur Swain.

Senator Cleary's Rebuttal.

"My opponent has not quoted a single statement of mine truthfully or referred to any of my statements in the sense in which I used them," said Senator Cleary in his rebuttal speech. He said that Col. Windle's comparison between the use of liquor and drugs was incorrect, that practically all who tampered with liquor were injured and that there are many times when cocaine and morphine are used legitimately by reputable physicians. He said that prohibition does prohibit because it closes the school which makes drunkards. That the number of drinkers is falling of every year and that in the course of a generation of prohibition they would practically disappear. With regard to the attitude of the Bible he said that there could be no question. The passages against drunkenness are many and positive throughout the whole book. Regulation of the saloon is a failure. "Who ever heard of a saloon keeper who insisted upon the enforcement of the law?" He reminded the voters that the city of Jacksonville has had thirty years' experience with the saloon, that in all that time the utility of regulation has been demonstrated, and the constant tendency of the saloon has been shown to meddle in politics and break all laws made for its restraint.

Mr. Windle closed the debate with a five minutes speech in which he again announced his talk next Monday night. He dwelt on the advantages and blessings of liberty, and spoke of the false position of early christian sects which insisted upon vows of chastity and abstinence. He compared the position of Christ in the Bible to the precept of Mohammed in the Koran in which the Arab prophet refers to all use of wine as "an abomination of the works of Satan," and asked whether his audience stood, on the side of the Bible? or on the side of the Koran?

THE REAL QUESTION

A great audience gathered last night at the Opera house for the joint debate between C. A. Windle for the "wets" and Senator Cleary for the "drys." Many people were unable to gain admission to the theatre, so intense was the interest of the occasion. For two hours and a half the people listened to the presentation of the theme under discussion and applause was frequent. When all was over if you asked a dry sympathizer about the meeting his answer was "Great, Judge Cleary ate him alive and knocked his arguments into smithereens." And then if you listened for a "wet" man's summary of the occasion you would hear something like this: "I tell you that man Windle is logical and clear. He put it all over Cleary and knocked the props from under all his arguments." So the unprejudiced observer gained the opinion that while the joint debate made a very interesting and important occasion, something old, yet new, in local political affairs that really very few votes were changed.

Mr. Windle is the editor of the Iconoclast and prior to undertaking his duties in publishing this clarion exponent of personal liberty was known to the reading public through The Gatling Gun, "Iconoclast" we believe means "a radical" or one who assaults cherished beliefs and theories." As the editor of such a paper Mr. Windle can certainly be called consistent for he is a radical and is largely engaged in assaulting some beliefs which some people hold true, and other beliefs which some people hold sacred.

To the unbiased observer there was not a great deal to criticize about Mr. Windle's utterances, from the standpoint he was defending. There was however a definite sense of sarcasm as one listened to his glib quotations from the Bible in support of the liquor traffic which he champions. The whiskey business, the saloon business are so incompatible with the teachings and spirit of the Bible that one shudders at the effort to support a liquor argument by quotations from Holy Writ. By inference, at least, Mr. Windle made light of sacred things and in this he misjudged the character of his Jacksonville audience. He is however a resourceful and forceful platform speaker.

Judge Cleary is plain and pointed in his arguments. Schooling on the floor of the senate and in committee has given him adroitness in debate and he has too that quality which makes his sincerity very apparent.

But to take again the unprejudiced view point, the truth is that the eminent gentlemen who were the principals in this debate did not get down to the local question at issue. The people of Jacksonville just at this time are not trying to settle the question as to whether or not prohibition is fundamentally wrong. They are not trying to settle the question as to whether prohibition prohibits. Moreover they are not struggling over matters of personal liberty. They are not debating whether a man should be forced to drink or forced not to drink; of abstaining wholly from liquor or of taking a glass of beer or wine when one wants to.

The question is, does Jacksonville want the open saloons again? The question is, will this be a more moral city with open saloons? The question is, did any one ever hear of any good influence which ever came from any saloon, anywhere?

THE CHURCH VERSUS THE SALOON.

The Independent says: "The country is discontinuing the liquor business. Statistics compiled in the American Contractor show that in 1906 new capitalizations and plans of extension in architects' hands aggregated for brewers and distillers, the sum of $14,578,000, and for churches, $5,632,731. In 1912 the figures were strangely reversed, only $2,927,783 for breweries and distilleries, and $14,870,506 for churches. The distribution of this large sum among the churches will be of interest: Catholic, $3,800,433; Methodists, $82,320,244; Presbyterians, $2,311,565; Lutherans, $1,183,505; Baptists, $1,018,000; all other, $4,226,763. In the light between the two, the churches seem to be getting the better of the saloon."

mitted to send a number of engineers, chemists and other employees to its plantations at Topolobampo bay on next government vessel going down the Pacific coast. The president informed Representative Mann that there were many applications for transportation on government ships and that to give permission to one would pave the way to following the practice generally.

Furthermore, the state department has given notice that it would be contrary to the administration's policy to take Americans back into Mexico with those now in this country having been advised to get out.

It was said tonight that the sugar company probably would send its men to Topolobampo by a private vessel.

Representatives of the company say crops will be ruined unless the sugar is cut immediately and that the revolutionists are threatening to confiscate the property on the ground that it has been abandoned.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt today instructed Rear Admiral Cowles, commanding the American squadron on the west coast of Mexico, to proceed as far as he deemed it practicable in protecting French colonists, said to be in peril, at San Ignacio, in lower California.

Rebel Army at Napula.

El Paso, Tex., Oct. 30.—General Francisco Villa and his rebel army of 9,000 men have arrived at Napula, fifteen miles south of Chihuahua City, and will move on Chihuahua tomorrow to attack the city, according to couriers arriving from the rebel camp. Villa's troops are expected to attack Chihuahua in the morning.

The latest advices received tonight from Chihuahua were that the federals may evacuate the city at any moment. Their trains have steam up and are loaded with their equipment ready to leave as soon as the rebels approach within striking distances.

Must Use Military Force.

Rome, Oct. 30.—Commenting on Mexican affairs, the Tribune says that if the administration at Washington proceeds further in its interference other countries, especially Japan, cannot remain indifferent.

"If the United States intends actually to insist upon Huerta abandoning his dictatorship," the Tribune added, "it must intervene with military forces."

Diaz Discusses Politics.

Vera Cruz, Oct. 30.—General Felix Diaz aboard the battleship Louisiana is spending much of his time discussing Mexican politics and his bad luck in various adventures. He has not yet been appraised as to what disposition it is intended to make of him.

The unexpected arrival here tonight of Captain William A. Burnside, military attaché of the American embassy at Mexico City, created some comment. The object of his visit has not been learned.

Diaz to United States.

Galveston, Tex., Oct. 30.—President Wilson's personal representative in Mexico, John Lind and Rear Admiral Fletcher, commanding the American fleet in Mexican waters, have undertaken negotiations with a steamship company for safe passage of General Felix Diaz and his two companions to the United States. The steamship Alabama has been put at their service.

This was the authoritative statement here tonight of R. T. Burge, president of the Gulf Fruit & Steamship company, charterers of that ship.

POLLUTED WATER.

Cheap and Simple Method by Which It May Be Purified.

The best thing to do with polluted water is to keep it out of your mouth and wait until you can get some pure water. Of course a man might starve to death in some places following that advice, so here is the next best thing to do. Disinfect the dangerous water. Here is the way to do it.

Dissolve a teaspoonful of chloride of lime in a cupful of water, making sure that all lumps are thoroughly broken up, then add three more cupfuls of water. Stir the mixture well and allow to stand for a few seconds in order that any solid particles may settle.

This mixture, if kept in a tightly stoppered bottle, may be used for four or five days, when a new solution should be prepared. Add one teaspoonful of this milky looking solution to each two gallons of water to be purified and stir thoroughly in order that the weak chlorine solution will come in contact with all the bacteria which may be present. Allow this to stand for ten minutes. This will give approximately one-half part of free chlorine to 1,000,000 parts of water and will effectually destroy all typhoid and colon bacilli or other disease germs in the water. The water will be without taste or odor, and the trace of free chlorine will rapidly disappear. This method is one which is now recommended in the health literature of the country.

Water so disinfected is not dangerous so far as the chloride of lime is concerned if allowed to stand for ten or fifteen minutes after applying. The chief danger is that not enough disinfectant will be applied to render the water safe in all instances.

MINE OWNER IS FINED.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 30.—In a test case which the constitutionality of the act requiring wash rooms in mines, factories, etc., is attacked, George Solomon, owner of a coal mine near here, was today fined $10 and costs in the county court for failure to comply with the law in question. ### MANY ELECTIONS TO BE HELD NEXT TUESDAY

Interest Centers Principally About New Jersey and Massachusetts.

Washington, Oct. 30.—Elections will be held next Tuesday in numerous states and cities throughout the country. Interest in the outcome centers largely in New Jersey and Massachusetts, where governors and other state officials are to be elected, and in Maryland, where the voters are to choose a United States senator, state controller and clerk of the court of appeals.

Official Washington is looking forward to the results of the election with many evidences of anxious interest. The president is most largely concerned in the outcome in his home state of New Jersey, where, through Secretary Bryan, he has made known his attitude regarding the situation.

With a governor, eight state senators and sixty assemblymen to be chosen in three-cornered contest, the political battle in New Jersey is complex. The views of the political managers on the outcome of the election vary greatly. The state chairman of each of the three political parties battling in the state is claiming victory for his candidate. With Acting Governor James F. Fielder waging a fight for the Wilson policies, ex-State Senator Everett Colby carrying the Progressive banner, and former Governor Edward C. Stokes leading a reunited and strongly recruited Republican army, to predict the result of the contest would be sheer guesswork.

Even more complex than the situation in New Jersey is that presented in Massachusetts, where the gubernatorial race is being run with seven entries. Eugene S. Foss, the present governor, is seeking re-election as an independent. Charles S. Bird, who was a candidate last year, is again the standard bearer of the Progressive party. The Republicans have nominated for governor Congressman A. P. Gardner, well remembered as one of the leaders of the insurgent movement against Speaker Cannon. The Democratic candidate of David I. Walsh, the present lieutenant governor. The election is regarded as most important because of the effect it will have upon the future of the Republican and Progressive parties. Public sentiment in regards to the Wilson administration will hardly be reflected either in a Democratic victory or defeat, since the state platform of that party made no reference to the administration or the tariff bill.

The election of a United States senator to succeed the late Isidor Rayner is the big feature of the Maryland campaign. William P. Jackson, Republican, was appointed to the position by Governor Goldsborough by the legislature, but with the adoption of the constitutional amendment providing for the popular election of United States senators, the governor decided to substitute the choice of the people for his own personal selection. The candidates for the senatorship are Blair Lee, Democrat; Thomas Parran, Republican; and George L. Wellington, Progressive.

In point of interest the mayoral campaign in New City far exceeds that of the state contests. The fight is between Edward E. McCall, the Democratic candidate, and John Purroy Mitchell, the choice of the Fusionists, or those opposed to Tammany rule. That the result will determine finally the status of Charles F. Murphy as boss of Tammany hall is the general opinion expressed by the politicians.

Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and a number of other large cities of the country have also important elections on for next Tuesday.

In each of these municipal contests, as in New York, the reform question is a dominant issue.

Several congressional elections are scheduled for the day, to fill vacancies resulting from the death or resignation of the sitting members. In Massachusetts a congressman is to be elected in the Third district to succeed the late Representative Wilder, Republican. In the Third Maryland district, where there is a vacancy, the Republicans are making a tremendously hard fight to overcome a normally Democratic plurality. In two New York districts congressmen are to be elected to succeed Francis Burton Harrison, recently appointed governor general of the Philippines, and "Big Tim" Sullivan, deceased. The Democrats are practically sure of success in both these districts.

In Ohio, Oregon, New York and several other states the voters will be given opportunity to pass judgment on several proposed amendments to the state constitution. In Illinois the local option contests are attracting most public attention.

FORMER RAILROAD MAN IS RELEASED FROM PRISON

C. L. Warriner Once Treasurer of Big Four Road Has Completed Term of Imprisonment.

Jasper, Ind., Oct. 30.—The case of Jack McCune, who was indicted for the alleged murder of his wife, Mary McCune, more than fifteen years ago, is on the court docket for the end of this week and, it is believed, will be taken up and heard without delay. This case presents many features of an unusual character and will undoubtedly attract considerable attention. Mrs. McCune, the alleged victim of the murder, died suddenly more than fifteen years ago under peculiar circumstances. Although no definite charges were made at the time, it was strongly suspected by the friends and neighbors of the woman that she had been murdered by her husband to enable him to marry the girl to whom he was then paying attention. Many years passed, however, before Prosecutor Carpenter of this county was aroused to action by the persistent rumors. After a careful investigation which brought to light a great deal of damaging evidence against McCune and incidentally led to his imprisonment on the charge of arson, the evidence was submitted to the grand jury, which found an indictment against McCune, charging him with the murder of his wife.

FORMER RAILROAD MAN LEAVES PRISON.

Columbus, Ohio, Oct. 30.—Charles L. Warriner, former treasurer of the Big Four railroad, was discharged from the state penitentiary today, having completed the term of imprisonment to which he was sentenced December 22, 1909, after having confessed to embezzling $643,000 from the Big Four railroad while employed as clerk, cashier and finally treasurer of the company. After his release Warriner left the city, but nothing was disclosed concerning his plans for the future.

The embezzlement case of which Warriner was the principal figure created a tremendous sensation in Cincinnati, where Warriner lived and throughout the state where he was well known in his official capacity. Warriner was a man well liked and highly respected. He had a charming, but not luxurious home in Wyoming, a suburb of Cincinnati, where he lived with his wife and family in a style becoming his station, but without extravagance or ostentation. According to his confession he made the first false step while cashier of the Cleveland line, which was later absorbed by the Big Four. He appropriated small sums until the road was absorbed. After the transfer Edward S. Cook, a young clerk, who knew of Warriner's peculiarities, and a woman known as Mrs. Jeanette Timmonds Stewart-Ford, began to use their knowledge of Warriner's defalcations to obtain money from him and Warriner claimed that practically all the money he stole since then went to the Fords to keep them quiet.

SAVING TIME IN EDUCATION.

There is a waste of at least two years in the present plan of American education. This is the conclusion reached by a committee of prominent educators in a report on "Economy of Time in Education," just issued by the United States bureau of education.

This conclusion follows an investigation lasting nearly 10 years by a committee of the National Education association, of which President James H. Baker of the University of Colorado, is chairman. The committee have endeavored to form a plan that would do away with the two year loss. They propose that six years be assigned to the elementary school instead of eight, as at present; that the high school period be from age 12 to 18, divided into two parts, of four and two years each; that college work extend from 18 to 20, or 16 to 20, according to the method of distributing the last two secondary years; and that graduate or professional work at a university cover the years from 20 to 24. This would enable boys and girls to get ample vocational training after the age of 12; it would enable those who go to college to get through their college work at the age of 20; and it would save the professional man from having to wait until 27 to start his professional career.

The report insists that the present elementary course is too long; that the ground now covered in eight years can be covered just as efficiently in six, allowing secondary work to begin at the age of 12. To save on elementary schooling they urge: "Choose the most important subjects and the most important topics; make a distinction between first rate facts and principles and tenth rate. Confine the period of elementary education to mastering the tools of education. Include the last two years of the present elementary school in the period of secondary education and begin the study of foreign language, elementary algebra, constructive geometry, elementary science, and history two years earlier than at present."

Emphasis is laid on the necessity of concentrating on a few valuable studies: "The great mistake of our education is to suppose that quantity and strain constitute education. Education is a question of doing a few essential things well and without overstrain. The college has committed a grievous mistake in demanding ever more in quantity rather than in quality produced under condition of healthy normal development."

The report takes up the problem of saving time in education from the point of view of the college, the school, and society at large, as well as of the individual pupils; and it contains opinions on every phase of the question from representative school men and the general public.

SOME OFF-SIDE CHUTES.

The Federal league is prepared to go through with its proposed raid upon the National and American leagues. The cash is not only in sight, but most of it is on deposit in the various cities on its circuit. Many of the stars of both the big leagues will be signed, and every player taken will be properly protected by a Federal league contract. After the national commission has turned down Davy Fultz, as Garry Hermann says it will do, the pyrotechnics will be set off.

Some of the nabobs who imagine they can play golf, or that they can learn to tee off and on the green, in New York, Baltimore and Chicago have gone "mad with the heat of the game" and are about to import expert instructors from the land of the frog-eaters and from the home of the dynamiting suffragette. Clubs in the above named cities have contracted in defiance of the alien contract labor act with several French and English past-masters, so-called, to be on hand early in the spring of 1914 to take charge of the links with the idea of developing champions. It is less than month since a Yankee youngster, Francis Oimiet, smothered the very best foreign talent when they hooked up in the world's open championship near Boston. And the United States has held supremacy for years besides. A case of freighting coal out to Newelley.

Little Cal Delaney by his showing against Matty McCue in Racine, Wis., on Tuesday night has set the boxing bugs wild. The Cleveland bantam, they claim, has established himself as a title contender. Many who were at the ringside are touting him as another Jimmy Barry and a worthy opponent of Johnny Condon, the present champion of the 122 pound class. The youngster's manager has him signed for an engagement with Frankie Conley at Racine one week from tonight. Conley, who is an Italian, assuming an Irish alibi for commercial purposes, is quite a rugged lad and a ready mixer at close quarters. This go will determine the immediate future course of Delaney in his desire to annex the championship.

Prize fighting at Venice, near Los Angeles, will be put out of the running after next Wednesday. The initiative petition for the prohibition of boxing contests except among amateurs, when no prize money is at stake, will be voted upon and it is expected that the vote will be an overwhelming one against the game. The women are massed against the sure-thing promoter and the same vote that continued the free lunches in the saloons will drive Tom McCarey and all of his ilk out of southern California.

Twenty-five of the Ann Arbor, Mich., football squad have voted to remain outlaws insofar as the "Big Nine" is concerned. Under present conditions the University of Michigan athletes in all branches will continue to war upon the western intercollegiate conference, and the conference will continue to bump the Michigansers.

Yale and Harvard are in hard lines owing to injuries inflicted upon their stars. Pumphly, E.H.'s champion drop kicker, twisted his injured leg in a scrimmage at New Haven on Wednesday, and is now in the college infirmary undergoing repairs, with slight hopes of being able to get into any of the big games. Rex Hitchcock, right tackle for the Crinson team, also twisted an ankle Wednesday for the second time this season and is on the hospital list with no chance for release in time for the big struggle with the Princeton Tigers one week from tomorrow.

Calvin Demarest is in St. Louis preparing for his billiard contest with Champion Willie. Hope Demarest is playing a four night's tourney with Charles Peterson. The first two frames were walk-overs for Peterson, who played billiards all around the championship contender.

Encouraging news comes from University hospital, Philadelphia, where Jack Coombs has been weighted to a cot for the past two months. The physicians will remove the weights immediately and they have assured the great pitcher that his cure is positive and that his recovery will be speedy.

If the statements of the metropolitan press be true, Marty McCue is one of the luckiest men in the boxing game in this country. The story circulated has it that if the newspaper men at the ring-side in Racine rendered a verdict in his favor against Cal Delaney, Tom Jones, Whilom manager of Ad. Volkast was to become his mentor. Thus far in his ring career McCue has been invulnerable against the "banchee," but had he connected himself with voluminous Tom he would have accumulated a shipload of the jinx.

MAKES PLEA FOR EUGENIC MARRIAGES

GOV. BALDWIN HEARD AT CONVENTION OF CONGREGATIONALISTS.

Executive of Connecticut Takes High Ground in Opinion as to the Responsibility of the Church in Marriage Affairs—Urges Legislation Which Will Aid Ministers in Securing Facts as to Fitness of Principals to Marriage.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 30.—A plea for eugenic marriages by Governor Simon E. Baldwin, of Connecticut, and an address by Rev. Dwight Hillis, of Brooklyn, N. Y., on the new social obligation for the church brought to an end tonight the fifteenth triennial council of the Congregational Churches in the United States.

In addition to being the largest in point of attendance, the council was one of the most important in the church's history. It adopted a new constitution, appointed a general secretary with enlarged advisory powers, brought the eight church societies directly under the guidance of the council and provided for future meetings.

Most of today's session was devoted to the adoption of resolutions and the selections of members of the various important commissions. Rev. Joel S. Ives, of Hartford, Conn., was elected treasurer. The council authorized the appointment of a commission on social purity, to work against commercialized vice.

It was announced the first meeting of the committee on missions, which will have charge of the church societies, will be held at Boston on December 2.

Prof. Fred B. Hill, of Northfield, Minn., was named chairman of the committee on social service; Rev. William T. McDiven, of Chicago, was elected chairman of the commission on temperance and Rev. Henry A. Stinson, New York, was chosen chairman of the commission that will have charge of the ministerial plan.

A plea for eugenic marriage was made in the course of an address on the responsibilities of the Church in Eugenic Marriages, delivered here today before the National Council of Congregational Churches by Governor Simon E. Baldwin, of Connecticut.

The speaker urged the enactment by the various states of legislation which will enable ministers of religion to determine whether or not parties to the marriage contract are fit to perform the ceremony. He thought it time that ministers ceased to marry couples without any knowledge of their fitness, but he did not believe that in order to prevent such marriages the church should attempt to influence legislation. He thought that in this respect the Roman Catholic Church had the right answer.

"It contents itself mainly with looking after the individual," he said, "and in laying down rules for its own members, as to matter of religion; not in trying to get them to work for rules to govern the conduct of others."

It doesn't seem to me the duty of the churches, as such, or of their members, as such, to urge upon legislatures the improvement of our marriage laws. The efforts of the church for the betterment of society are to be accomplished through its influence in the formation and reformation of individual character. It has often been wrong in trying to extend its jurisdiction or in that the domain of statute law. In one generation it has not infrequently thus built up what in the next generation it has striven to pull down.

Information For Ministers. After quoting statistics and reviewing the awful consequences of marriage between persons wholly unfit to bring healthy children into the world, the speaker said that some method ought to be devised whereby the minister can learn of these conditions, and refusing to perform the ceremony, inform the parents of either party of the danger.

"The minister can hardly himself institute or direct an inquiry," said Governor Baldwin. "He can, however, decline to perform the ceremony, unless he personally knows the parties well, or is satisfied that the woman or her friends have made a proper investigation. Certainly he should never perform it for those whom he knows to be unfit to enter into the new relation."

Contrasting the practice in this respect between ancient and modern times, the speaker said:

"It often happens that a hasty marriage is agreed on, in a state where a previous notice of some days is required, and has not, perhaps, cannot be given. A trip to another state, in such a case, ought not, ordinarily, to be suffered to work an evasion of the home law."

"The Protestant churches, in refusing to recognize marriage as a sacrament, have left their ministers a free hand, as long as they keep within the law of jurisdiction. Where either party to a divorce is under the decree of the court, disqualified from marrying again during the life of the other, an attempt to do so, whether in the state granting the divorce, or elsewhere, ought not to be countenanced by any minister. A statute is of force only in the state where it is enacted, and therefore a marriage in a state other than that where the judgment was rendered is, at common law, legally valid. It is, however, something contrary to that spirit of civility and mutual respect which should always characterize the dealings of the authorities of one jurisdiction with regard to the orders of those of any other. To get all the facts, no minister ought to marry a divorced person, without first reading a copy of the judgment."

"But in most of our American states a divorce for adultery does not entail a prohibition of remarriage. The Mosaic Law."

"Jesus Christ accepted the ruler of civil government which he found established. He was a subject of the Roman empire. He was for giving Caesar what belonged to Caesar. Rome originally committed the power of divorce at will to the Roman husband. Later either party could dissolve the marriage relation at pleasure. No judicial decree, or action of any public authority was required. The Hebrew, in this respect, if not a Roman citizen, followed the Mosaic law. When Jesus spoke of the husband's putting away his wife for adultery and nothing less, he must have had in mind the power of the man under the then existing usages of Hebrew society and religion. Divorce was a private right. It proceeded from no public authority. To the Jewish husband, who could put away his wife for any cause at his own discretion, he said, that use must be to be a follower of this—use this power only in case of adultery. He did not assume to pass upon what the state might do.

"The Question of Infidelity. In modern times, the state denies any right of the husband to divorce at will. It regards marriage as a civil contract. It believes it to be best to allow the contract to be dissolved for certain causes by an impartial public tribunal. In taking this attitude, it seems to me wholly within its rights. If so, a minister need not scruple, subject to one possible exception, to marry persons who have been divorced, where the civil laws do not forbid. The possible exception is, of course, where adultery occurred during the previous marriage. The reasoning of Christ seems to me to cover such cases, but the letter of his words does not."

"A minister is never bound, to marry every one who asks it. Here he does not occupy the position of a civil officer of the state chosen, as such, for the discharge of a particular function. A public officer must perform his office. He has assumed that obligation in accepting the position. He must act or resign. But a minister is given the right to celebrate marriage, not because he has been chosen a public officer, but because he has been made an ecclesiastical officer. It is because he is authorized to act as a public agent for this particular purpose. At bottom it is to satisfy those who regard marriage a sacred thing or go still further and consider it a sacrament."

"No man can be made another's agent without his consent. No minister is bound to marry people who, he thinks, are not proper subjects of marriage."

No just analogy exists in these respects, between what is due from the clergy under an established church and that owing by a Protestant minister in this country. The Church of England, before and after the era of the Commonwealth, was a part of the civil government of England. It was not a separate body. It had no corporate organization. It was simply an incident of the civil authority. The bishops and priests celebrated marriage, as public officers, and as the only authority by which the ceremony could be performed.

"This anciently was the general rule throughout all Christendom."

LEGUMES AND GRAIN CROPS

Frank I. Mann Says Farmers Should Understand the Fundamental Difference—Legumes Board Themselves if Given Lodging—Grain Crops Must Be Lodged and Fed.

In talking to a farmers' institute meeting recently Mr. F. I. Mann, a successful farmer of Ironquills county, said:

"The prominent and everlasting problem in maintaining high production is to keep enough nitrogen in the soil out of which to make crops, and because of this the clovers or leguminous crops are the fundamental basis of a high production. This means that these crops are the important ones of a rotation, and the valuable feature of the legume crop is its ability to secure nitrogen from the air."

"When we study the chemistry of the legume plant we find the bacteria which gathers the nitrogen through the plant requires in addition, only the mineral elements, carbonates and phosphates. If any crop can occupy land on the 'European plan'—i. e., get its own food if you give it lodging, it is the legume crop. All it requires is that it be fed plenty of calcium and phosphorus."

"The Complete System. We must understand these fundamental difference between the legume and the grain crops. If we feed the legume crops the minerals, and feed the results to the grain crops, we have the system complete. It is absolutely necessary to do this, because the bacteria which prepares the food for the grain crops must be fed. The material which gathers the nitrogen from the air does not need the assistance of organic matter. You have seen the wild sweet clover crop grow luxuriantly on a railroad ballast or a pile of cinders; it gets its own food. If you give the legumes a place to stand where the minerals are abundant they will feed themselves. They do not have to have the same moisture supply that grain crops do because the nitrogen feeding bacteria will thrive with a lower moisture content than will those which feed the grain crops. When we turn under the legume crops to feed the grain crops we have the system which brings high production."

Alfalfa and Soy Beans.

"The soy bean is the best substitute for clover that I know of, but clover is the best legume crop that grows for an ordinary rotation. Alfalfa beats it only under a five field, four year rotation of wheat, corn, oats and clover grown upon four fields for five years, while the fifth field is kept in alfalfa. The clover should be seeded on the wheat for plowing under the next year before planting corn. At the end of the fifth year the alfalfa field is brought into rotation and one of the four fields seeded to alfalfa for another five year period."

"The problem with growing soy beans is weeds. With plenty of carbonates and phosphates, most any well drained land will produce a crop of soy beans that will smother weeds, if it has a chance, but on the ordi-

Chicago, Oct. 30.—President Johnson of the American league returned today from a hunting trip and said that he as well as all the other members of the National commission had received a copy of the players' fraternity demands, some time ago. Johnson intimated that it was the intention of the club owners to go farther toward benefiting the player than the demands ask.

THIS SPACE IS CONTROLLED BY THE PUBLICITY COMMITTEE OF THE ANTI-SALOON LEAGUE.

Where the Saloon Pays (?)

One question that thinking people will ask during the present campaign is as to the cost to the community of the licensed saloon. This inquiry might be carried on in many fields as in the criminal docket, the care of the insane and the defective. It is the purpose of this article to show the comparative cost of public charities, and that not of the paupers cared for in the poor house, but rather of the money given for relief—"outdoor relief", to be technical.

One of the organizations that distributes such relief is the Salvation Army. Its place of honor in this field is widely recognized. The records of the years when Jacksonville was wet are incomplete, so that figures are not obtainable. But this is the testimony of Captain Pinkston, the officer in charge in Jacksonville.

"We as an organization do not lay claim to being a charitable concern; therefore we do not go especially into detail as to the charity work done, as we are seldom called on to carry any person or family to more than a temporary relief. But as regards to the standing of our work in regards to saloons or no saloons in Jacksonville will say that after careful inquiry into the matter we have one half less calls on us since the saloons were abolished; especially is this noticed in our Christmas dinner, as we do not give more than one half as many dinners now that we gave during the reign of saloons. I find in Jacksonville mostly one class of poor people while in saloon town we recognize two classes, the worthy and the worthless; the worthy poor will be found in any city; the worthless in greater numbers in an open town.

While we work to save the victim of the saloon, the Salvation Army is an organization is strongly opposed to saloons and the local corps against their return to Jacksonville."

Associated Charities.

The Associated Charities should be able to give competent testimony on this point. Their records also are not complete as to the wet years of Jacksonville's history. But Miss Emma S. Weller is recognized as a competent Superintendent; she commands the respect of the community in which she has worked for years.

It is entirely possible that with her wide experience in other places Miss Weller is even a little more competent as a "welfare expert" than more recent importations. Miss Weller says on this subject:

"From the past and present experiences of the workers of the associated charities of our city—that is to say with our experiences of saloons or no saloons—I do not hesitate to say that I very decidedly oppose the re-admission of the bar-room, because I am convinced that the community is decidedly better off in every way without them. Since we have had no saloons we have had fewer complaints of cruelty to women and children; we have had fewer cases of drunken women brought to us, and money that was formerly spent for drink has gone to the support of the families of the drinking men. We especially owe it to the mothers and children of our community, who, at best have struggled for existence, to bar out the saloons."

County Clerk

An investigation of the books in the office of the County Clerk will show the cost of outdoor relief administered by the Overseers of the Poor for a term before saloons were voted out of Jacksonville and after. Taking these figures for the six years ending with 1907 and comparing them with the term of six years since then and estimating the last quarter of 1913 as an average one amongst the dry years, we discover what has been the cost to the County of the legalized liquor traffic in Jacksonville.

The first six years are years in which saloons were licensed. During the last six years the saloons were barred. The total amount spent for relief during the first six years was $62,761.36. During the last period the total cost was $51,923.08. There is a difference in the two periods of $11,738.28. In other words, the county spent about 25 per cent more during the wet years for charities than during the dry years. Also, be it remembered, the County received not one cent in return for this, the license fees going into the City treasury.

But this does not show the difference in its entirety. The balance saved in 1908 over 1907, the first years of no license as compared with the last years of saloons was $619,53. The saving of 1913 as compared with 1907 was $2,388.10, or more than three times as much. In other words, as Jacksonville and Morgan County have gotten away from the influence of the licensed saloon the rate of saving has become greater. What it might be a longer term of no license, I wonder Governor Hodges, of Kansas says after more than thirty years prohibition.

"Thirty eight county poor houses are as empty as a last year's locust shell, and most of these have been so for the best part of a decade. The pauper population of the state for a little short of 600. That is for pauper for each 3,000 of the kind making a living and a good one."

Mr. Voter, do you see where the saloon pays?

Summarizing the Savings

Jacksonville has an equally good chance with Kansas to reduce her pauperism to a minimum and reduce her rate of taxation. Mr. Taxpayer, Madam Taxpayer, will you vote next Tuesday to pay the bills for caring for the product of the licensed saloon?

If the aptain of the Salvation Army says the calls for relief are only one half what they were when saloons were licensed; if the Superintendent of the Associated Charities says the community is decidedly better off in every way without them, and that the money spent for drink should go to support the family; if the records of the Overseers of the Poor show an increase of 25 per cent of expenditure during the time of saloons and an increasing saving as saloon days are left behind; and if this is only one department of expense account caused by the legalized saloon, what would the total be if we included the poor-house, the Justice, the County and Circuit courts as well as the higher tribunals of the city jail, the county jail, the b for the insane and the defective?

Mr. Voter, do you see where the saloon pays?

This food is far superior to any brand of chicken food on the market today. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food & Drugs Act, June 30, 1906, serial No. 47673. Guaranteed analysis as follows:

CRUDE FAT ..... 6 to 8 per cent.
PROTEIN ..... 22 to 24 per cent.
FIBRE ..... 7 to 9 per cent.

WHAT IS "SUPREME CHICKEN FOOD?"

It is a combination food consisting of meat scrap, steamed bone grit and a small percentage of clam shell grit; all clean and in a uniform size, and can be fed to large and small fowls. "SUPREME CHICKEN FOOD" is guaranteed to make your hens lay. It is the only ideal food for fall and winter use. Put up in 50 and 100 pound bags.

Price per 50 pound bag ..... $1.50

Price per 100 pound bag ..... $3.00

We are also manufacturing, under state license, the best brand of hog food on the market, known as "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD." It is far superior to any brand of hog food on the market today. It is guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drugs Act, June 30th, 1906, Serial No. 47673. Guaranteed analysis as follows:

CRUDE FAT ..... 10 to 14 per cent.
CRUDE PROTEIN ..... 52.50 to 60 per cent.
CRUDE FIBRE ..... 1 to 3 per cent.
PHOSPHATE ..... 10 to 12 per cent.

WHAT IS "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD?"

It is a dark colored granular meal, made from meat residues, and it supplies the protein and phosphates necessary for compounding a balanced ration in most economical and palatable form.

It contains phosphates in proper proportion to insure strength of bone and frame work. In the corn belt bone development is a matter of serious consideration.

It is not a substitute for corn, but a small quantity fed in connection with corn or other grains gives a balanced ration.

It is the most economical source of digestible protein known, containing twice as much protein as oil-meal and five times as much as middlings, shorts, shipstuffs, or alfalfa meal.

TANKAGE is recommended by all leading experiment stations. It is packed in one-hundred-pound burlap sacks, plainly marked "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD." Analysis as above. It is the ideal feed to balance rations.

WHAT "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD" TANKAGE DOES.

It develops bone and muscle in young pigs and makes them grow. It matures a hog for market in two and three months quicker than corn alone, thereby saving one-third of the feed bill, one-third of the labor, one-third of the risk, increasing profits one-third.

It grows better proportioned hogs, more meat, and more fat, hence market-topper hogs. "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD" Tankage fed hogs ship well with small shrink. While in nowise a medicine, it so fortifies and strengthens the system against attacks of disease germs that "SURE FATTEN HOG FOOD" TANKAGE fed hogs are universally healthy. Manufactured by the

B. C. 3500

The first prescription was written on Egyptian stone 3500 B. C., and is now in the Metropolitan Museum, N. Y. City. The first prescription dispensed from our files was put up by Robert Hocken, senior, in 1842, and can be seen in our east side store window, together with others of same and subsequent years, down to the present time; nearly 50,000 of them in all.

These 50,000 prescriptions represent the accumulation of 71 years' continuous business, and when you take into consideration that in the last 25 or 30 years all the physicians have been dispensing practically all their medicines from their offices, it shows a record of work that we are justly proud of, both for our predecessors as well as ourselves.

This is the day and age of specializing in most all the arts and sciences. We specialize in that of dispensing physicians' prescriptions, and call ourselves the Prescription Specialists. Our intimate knowledge of drugs enables us to personally direct the compounding of them; the supervision of the filling of your prescriptions assures you that no error will be committed in the selection of the proper and purest drugs. Absolute excellence is our standard. We will not tolerate substitution. Our label is a guarantee of quality and we give most careful attention to every article which leaves our stores.

In order to carry out our Specialty we have opened (as you probably know), a prescription room in the Ayers Building, No. 201, for the exclusive compounding of physicians' prescriptions and family recipes. Hours 8:30 to 11:30 morning; 2 to 5 afternoon. We cordially invite you to call in and see our Prescription room. East and West Side Stores of Cover & Shreve can supply all your drug wants. We guarantee you perfect satisfaction, and are ready to promptly deliver any telephone order or call for prescription and return it to you after it is prepared.

POULTRY CULTURE

Article XIX.

Aspect—The hen house should receive the first rays of the rising sun in three old winter days of northern latitude. All day long when the sun is shining its rays should penetrate within the living place of the fowls. In northern localities the house therefore usually fronts to the south, sometimes to the southeast, and more rarely to the southwest.

The direction of the slope of the land will have something to do with the line frontage of the buildings, but should not necessarily decide it, if convenient the front of the building is usually at right angles with the direction of the land's surface.

The direction of the prevailing winds should be considered. The house fronts, if possible, in the opposite direction so that its windows, doors and connecting yards may be somewhat sheltered from the effects of storms and cold by the building itself.

Buildings for Poultry Plant—Poultry plants vary so greatly in their conditions of location, lines of production and other special features that no one set of buildings is adapted to all cases.

The important and essential points of the special buildings usually required and several possible combinations will be considered which have to be well adapted to ordinary requirements. When not directly applicable these plans may be modified to suit particular circumstances or will suggest features which may be used in planning buildings of different construction.

Headquarters—An arrangement for a central building on a large poultry plant may be made which shall provide quarters for the poultryman, if unmarried, an office and shipping room for the business, a basement to be used as an incubator room. A building of this kind in use has proved well adapted to its purposes. The ground on which it is situated slopes to the east and the building is set into the bank.

The walls of the basement in this case are made of stone on three sides and of brick on the east side, which is the front of the incubator room. In this end are a door and a large window, two on the south side and two on the north side. The floor of the basement is of concrete and the ceiling of fire proof asbestos plaster.

The main floor is divided into entry, office, basement, stairway, bedroom and closet. More room within could be gained by building a porch in front, enclosing a vestibule and doing away with the inside entry. This would add to the good appearance of the exterior of the building. The position of the chimney is such that one good stove warms both rooms. If thought best the main floor could be planned to give a fair sized office and two bedrooms, thus accommodating the poultryman and an assistant if the size of the plant warrants this arrangement. If so desired the chimney can be constructed to contain a separate flue with opening near the floor of the basement for ventilation of the incubator room. There is no question as to positive ventilation where a flue thus passes through a building in a position where it will be warmed to a degree of temperature higher than that of the room to be ventilated. A shaft of pipe passing up close by the warm chimney will answer the same purpose.

It is a favorite plan of poultrymen in the northern states to use a cellar room or underground house for artificial incubation. Frequently when a separate house is constructed for this purpose it is placed from one-half to three-quarters underground. It may, however, be placed wholly above ground. The room should be at least seven feet in height, and several cardinal points should be kept in mind.—H. A. McKee, Secretary, Illinois Farmers' Institute.

MRS. W. W. LAKE

Tells Others How to Get Strong and Well.

Mrs. W. W. Lake of Aberdeen, Miss., says: "The gripe had left me in a week, run-down condition from which I suffered for some time. I tried different remedies but nothing seemed to do me any good until I took Vinol, from which I received great benefit. My cough is almost entirely gone and I am strong and well again, and I am glad to recommend Vinol to others who suffer as I did."

Mrs. Lake's recovery was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements extracted from cod-livers—combined with the blood-making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol, and her cough disappeared as a natural result.

We guarantee that Vinol will do all we claim and will pay back your money if Vinol does not satisfy you. Lee P. Alcott, druggist, Jacksonville, Ill.—Adv.

MAY CHANGE PLACE OF POULTRY EXHIBIT.

A movement is on foot to hold the poultry and farmers' institute exhibits in the rooms occupied formerly by John T. Samples & Son on South Main street and to use the armory for the "Made in Jacksonville" exposition, now under promotion by Secretary Fitzhugh of the Chamber of Commerce. As the opinion of members of the Morgan County Poultry association is not wholly unanimous for the change, a meeting will be held this evening in room 5 of the Gallagher block to decide the matter.

STUDENTS' RECITAL

Program Given at Illinois Woman's College.

A students' recital was given in Music Hall at the Woman's college, Thursday afternoon at 4:15 p. m. The pupils acquitted themselves in a pleasing manner and showed progress in their work. The program follows: Piano—Bude, Op. 22, No. 1. . . . . Wollenhaupt. Pearl Sweet. . . . . Hermann. Violin—Habenera . . . . . Hilda Ator. Voice—Staudschen . . . . . Schubert. Birthday Song . . . . . Cowen. Nina Slaten. . . . . Violin—Air and Gavotte in D. major . . . . . Elsie Capps. Voice—Summer . . . . . Chaminade. Louise Hughes. . . . . Piano—Mennet Modern . . . . . Elsie Klothe. . . . . Wilson G. Smith.

The statement in the latter part of the article in Thursday's Journal relative to the accidental shooting on North Diamond street making it appear that the shot was fired by W. G. Benson is incorrect, as the hunting rifle was in the hands of G. F. Brown, as at first stated.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Himby and daughter Pearl were all city visitors yesterday from Manchester.

TRADING IN STOCKS ACCOMPLISHES LITTLE

MARKET OFFERS RESISTANCE TO BEARISH INFLUENCES.

Record of Prices Shows Small Gains
Among Representative Shares—
List Gives Way Later in the Day—Speculative Favorites Under Previous Close.

(By Associated Press)
New York, Oct. 30.—So far as net results go, today's trading in stocks accomplished little. The market offered resistance to accumulating bearish influences and during the morning the record of prices showed small gains among the representative shares. Later in the day the list gave way and at the close the speculative favorites were well under yesterday's final quotations.
The day's news was unfavorable.
Call money advanced to 6 1/2 per cent, the highest figure in months. Such a movement is not unreasonable, this being the height of the crop-moving season and end of the month requirements at this time frequently cause temporary tightness of the money market.

Reports of banking troubles in Berlin, the break in the London copper metal market and a poor statement for September by Southern Pacific were other bearish influences of the day. Southern Pacific reported a decrease in net of nearly $500,000. Some selling of Canadian Pacific for foreign account was said to have resulted from the difficulties of Berlin houses but London trading as a whole was unusually light.

BEARS HAVE ADVANTAGE IN WHEAT OPERATIONS

CONDITIONS IN ARGENTINA AND AUSTRALIA MORE REASSUR-ING.

Despite Fact That Covering by Shorts Rallies the Market Tone at the Close is Weak and Under Previous Finish—Corn Unchanged

(By Associated Press)
Chicago, Oct. 30.—Bears had the advantage today in wheat on account of more reassuring crop conditions in Argentina and Australia.
Despite the fact that covering by shorts rallied the market, there was weak tone at the close with 1/2c to 3/4c under last night. Corn finished unchanged to 1/4c@3/4c higher, oats off a shade to 1/2c and provisions varying from 10c decline to a rise of 2 1/2@5c.

Direct cable reports from Buenos Ayres declared that the crop output on wheat was far from justifying the bullish reports of the previous day. It was flatly asserted that the circumstances did not warrant any uneasy at present regarding damage or because of alleged backwardness of growth.
On the contrary, the prospect was said to be distinctly favorable. Selling pressure that resulted here received additional emphasis from large estimates of the probable yield in Australia.

Buying of wheat at the decline reached a liberal total and was supposed to be chiefly for a prominent speculator, who of late had been active in selling the market short.
Recovery in prices was helped by short purchasing here and at Minneapolis on milling account. The return, however, failed to overcome all of the early loss.
Corn developed strength owing to reports that the country selling next to nothing despite advanced premiums. It was also asserted that shipping call from the east had much improved. The late strength in the market contrasted decidedly with sentiment during the first half of the day when prices suffered owing to a forecast of warmer weather west of the Mississippi. Oats rallied with corn, though not to the same extent. Most of the day the cereal was under heavy selling pressure, chiefly by shorts.
In the main, provisions held steady. There was a fairly good outside inquiry based on the outlook for corn and hogs.

SOUND NOTE OF WARNING TO BUSINESS INTERESTS

HILL AND VANDERLIP ADDRESS BANKERS.

Railroad Magnate Declares That Country is Waterlogged With Bonds and Confidence Cannot Be Restored Until Name Bond Wins Back Something of Its Old Standard.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 30.—James J. Hill and Frank A. Vanderlip, the speakers tonight at the banquet that closed the convention here of the Investment Bankers' Association of America, each sounded a note of warning to the business interests of the country. Mr. Hill, whose subject was "Railroad Financing of the Future," declared that "the country is waterlogged with bonds and confidence cannot be restored until the name bond has won back something of its old standard."

Mr. Vanderlip said that congress was in danger of saddling on the country a ruinous policy of fiat money. The senate, he said, was hesitating and fearful of doing anything against the wishes of the house. He spoke of the pending banking legislation. "The fatal defect of the Glass bill," he said, "is that it starts the country on an issue of fiat currency. The notes are fiat notes. They have no reserve whatever provided by the government and they are to be loaned without limit to a number of banks."

"There is no case in all history where a nation has started on an issue of fiat money where the result has not been a breakdown of the financial system of that country."

Urges Central Bank.

Mr. Vanderlip urged, instead of regional banks, a central bank owned by the people and under government control. Regional banks, he said, were dangerous as the same climate and crop stresses would affect the entire region bringing too heavy strain on the resources of the bank. Competition for reserves among regional banks and forced investment by national banks in regional bank securities, he also gave several other objections. The central bank, he asserted, met every objection.

"I believe the intellectual judgment of every member of the senate committee approves such a plan," Mr. Vanderlip said. "Politically however, some of the members see serious obstacles. The fact that the house is committed to a regional system is a serious obstacle. The disposition of the president not to consider or even to discuss another plan than the Glass-Owen bill is another obstacle. The declaration of the Baltimore convention against a central bank is a difficulty. Were I not for these three things I have no doubt that the senate committee would be well on their way today toward completing the bill for such a central institution."

The hope for the removal of these "obstacles to sound legislation," Mr. Vanderlip said, lies in the creation of a public opinion that will be felt by the senate. "The force of such a public opinion will bring about the desired result," he continued. "The senate is intellectually convinced today. They need to know that the public is convinced. They are fearful of the political situation and afraid to change after the house has prepared the public mind for a regional system."

If the senate could be convinced that the public wanted a central bank, Mr. Vanderlip concluded, "sound legislation" might be had in thirty days.

"If the true story of all municipal indebtedness, now concealed behind various temporary makeshifts so as to maintain an ostensible credit and help push out the annual crop of new or refunding bonds, could be told, it would shock the country and give pause even to the advocates of unlimited expenditure for public purposes." Such was the assertion of James J. Hill in the course of an address at a banquet of the Investment Bankers' Association of America tonight.

Industrials in Worse Condition.

The situation with regard to bonds generally spoken of as "industrial" is worse. The field is so large and so diverse as to defy statistical tabulation. Hundreds of millions of bonds have been issued to promote consolidations, these securities being part of the purchase price of the smaller concerns to be united in one big corporation. Other hundreds of millions have been issued against property still to be developed, such as mines, timber land, irrigated lands and even ordinary real estate, where many separate holdings are combined in the hands of an active or passive or developing concern. These are of varying degrees of soundness; from the bond with property behind it that would fetch face value at a forced sale at any time, to more speculative pledges of a future realization or increment that is little better than a guess. Finally, there is the enormous mass recorded only locally and beyond any reliable estimate in amount, of bonds that are not in view of the flimsy or insufficient security behind them, entitled to be called bonds at all.

"Mr. Hill said the place of the share of stock has changed little."

"Continuing his criticism of bonds, he said: 'Formerly and always in any properly financed undertaking, the limit of a bond issue is the total cash value of tangible property in possession; not its value for the uses to which it is being or is to be put, but its value as an asset for immediate conversion by forced sale at any time into cash. Under this rule the investor might rest secure. The worst that could happen to him would be to have to take over this property, in case of a receivership, wind up the business and get back his money. About all that he could lose would be the interest on his investment for the un-realized term of the life of his bond. Now is it altogether different. Not only wild-cat concerns, which are outside the range of this discussion, but companies of real merit and solvency, conducted by men who would scorn to do an act commonly recognized as dishonorable, do not hesitate to bond their business for very much more than could be obtained from either a forced sale or a careful liquidation."

"Criticism, or even a proper understanding of the situation calls for discrimination between the classes into which bonds are divided. First are those of public bodies; the government, states, counties, cities and sometimes villages. Here a frightful inflation is going on. An old-fashioned public aversion to debt still holds the nation and, to some extent, the states in check; though many of the latter evade it by marketing certificates of indebtedness which differ from bonds only in the shorter time they have to run and the inferior weight of the sanction behind them."

Railroads Faithful to Trust.

"Without undue preference for the interest to which most of my active life has been given, I think I may say that the railroad bonds of this country as a rule have remained faithful to their trust."

"The remaining class of bonds, those of public utilities, require no separate discussion. Water bonds in most cases stand on the same footing as those of the municipality; gas and electric light bonds are simply a special form of industrial; while street railway bonds resemble those of the street railways, except that generally a mere franchise instead of an ownership of property is the main guarantee behind them. 'The country is waterlogged with bonds. Confidence cannot be restored until the name 'bond' has won back something of its old standard. And that cannot happen until issues are limited by moderation, conformed to the value of the security and confined to the margin of safety and the form of credit for which the bond was originally designed."

"There would be little need for blue sky laws if all who engage in your business were bound by a code both moral and legal to stamp out not only the obviously wild-cat security, but every other that has a surplus of prospectus and a deficit of live assets behind it. The investment market cannot know a prosperous activity, except by feverish starts to be followed by still more pronounced reactions, until the immutable laws of credit have been generally recognized and respected."

A Year's Subsistence.

"In the beginning of his address, Mr. Hill said among other things: 'Less than a year's subsistence stands between man and starvation. That is the measure of his accumulation. Six and a half bushels of wheat per capita is a low estimate for consumption and seed. The 97,000,000 people living, according to the census estimate, in the United States in 1913 would require 630,500,000 bushels to keep their stomachs and fields in condition for a year. That is a little less than the crop of 1911 and a little more than the crop of 1912. Subtract our total exports of domestic wheat and flour for the last three years from our total wheat production, and the average surplus retained for home consumption is less than 600,000,000 bushels per annum."

"What is true of our bread supply is more than true of most other necessities that we consume and produce. We could live for a few months only on our savings. Immense as seems the total of accumulated wealth, most of it is not available for consumption. Even the income from it must be transformed into things to eat and drink and wear, and tools to work with; into capital for future production, without which not only the machinery of industry but the human machine itself would presently cease to operate, and a dead world remain the monument of defeat in that economic battle which man has waged with nature from the beginning."

HALLOWE'EN.

(Winston W. Wharton.)

Shall I tell of vivid occurring:
Tells of sounds and things unknown
How, from out the silent midnight,
Came an awful graveyard groan;
While a witch, with honey singers,
Killed a goblin tall and lean
Still the gruesome vision lingers,
And awakes at Hallowe'en.

Yes, along in late October,
All the spooks get out their duds
Smoke and dye them black and whisper

Names of goblins fair and "buds"
Then they all form in procession
Mostly black, but some are green
Ready for the dark obsession
Spooks were made for Hallowe'en.

Then they come down all a blowing;
And of all the things they do;
Pumpkins take to promenading,
And they wink and flirt with you;
While the gates get off their hinges,
Sidewalks too sometimes get mean
And go calling with the Goblins
And the witches, Hallowe'en.

Then the heroes of the village,
Build them blazing signal fires
And the black winged, red eyed Goblins
Get their wings caught in the wires.

Then they catch them too and tie them,
Throw them in a red machine
And they draw them in the River,
Yes they do, on Hallowe'en.

All the winds with moans and sighs
Sneep all in and round your hat
And you think the world is dying;
Cross your path there runs a cat,
Though your youngsters seem to like it
I'm too old to keep gerene
Good luck to you, Ghosts and Goblins
And your boys, this Hallowe'en.

Sick Headache, Bad Breath, Sour Stomach, Mean Liver and Bowels Clogged—Clean up Tonight.

Get a 10-cent box now.
Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion, foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give your constipated bowels a thorough cleansing and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too. (Adv.)

BIRTHDAY SOCIAL

Ladies of the Congregational Church Entertain.

For some years it has been the custom of the ladies of the Congregational church to have each month a birthday social with hostesses the ladies whose birthdays occurred during the month in which the affair was held but this time they decided on a different plan. They combined August, September and October and all the ladies whose birthdays occurred in those months were the hostesses and all members of the congregation were invited to the pleasant homes of Misses Grace and May Dummer where an evening was most delightfully enjoyed by a large number of guests. It was a strictly social affair and each one seemed ready to entertain the other and all was pleasant and all that could be desired.

During the evening excellent refreshments were served and much enjoyed by all. The entire evening was most happily spent by all present. The hostesses of the evening were Misses Grace Dummer, May Dummer, E. A. Abbott, Marie Fairbank, Mesdames H. H. Hill, J. P. Lippincott, L. S. Doane, D. B. Hutchison and Mary Riley.

SOCIAL EVENTS.

Miss Helen Self was pleasantly surprised Wednesday evening by the major circle at her home 231 1/2 N. Main street in honor of her 14th birthday. The house was beautifully decorated; the parlor in red and white; the dining room in orange and black and other hallowe'en decorations. The games were varied and created much amusement. Music was furnished by Pearl Pickle, Rene Chaney, Louise Robinson and Effie Sheppard. Miss Helen received many handsome presents. During the evening delicious refreshments were served. It was at a late hour the guests departed with good wishes for their young hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin McCarty entertained a small company of friends at their pleasant home 329 East Washington street, Wednesday evening, in honor of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Norman, who recently moved to the city from Chapin, Ill. The games, decoration and refreshments were in keeping with the festival of Hallowe'en and a very pleasant time was spent.

Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Woodson gave a party Thursday evening in honor of the 18th birthday of their son Ray Henry. About fifty neighbors and friends were present and games and music helped to pass away the hours. The house was very attractively decorated in the Hallowe'en colors. During the evening Ray was presented with a handsome signet ring, the presentation speech being made by Miss Lena Megginson. An oyster supper was served and a most delightful time was spent by all.

A good fellowship meeting was held by the members of Favorite lodge No. 376, Knights of Pythias, Thursday evening. The hall was prettily decorated in the Hallowe'en emblems and there was a large attendance. Music was furnished by an orchestra of which John Kearns was the leader.

H. H. Bancroft acted as chairman of the evening and Rev. Walter E. Spoonst talked on "Benefits of Fraternism" and Rev. John Kettle on "Pythianism by a Traveler in Many Climes." John Reeve was also heard in a splendid address and Master John Pyatt gave a piano solo. Following the speaking a social hour was enjoyed and some suitable refreshments were served.

Members of Caritas lodge No. 625 celebrated their 8th wedding anniversary last night and also the marriage of four of their members. Mr. and Mrs. Carl Weber, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kuykendall, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reid, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Huss. The wedding was celebrated again and those who led the party were Mrs. Sadie Henderson, noble grand; Mrs. Lois Seymour, vice grand; Mrs. Myrtle Tandy, state warden; Mrs. Pearl Ebrey, a charter member. Next came the ribbon bearers, Misses Grace Van Houten and Miss Frances Bradley. The girls who strewed the rose petals were Marjorie Bradley and Portia Brockman. Next came the four brides and grooms. The wedding march was played by Miss Inez McCullough. The bridal party marched to the dining room where a special table had been provided for the newly-weds.

Each of the brides was presented with a cut glass dish. The members regretted that State President Ellen O. Johnson was unable to be present.

After the supper the following program was given:
Duet—Anna Frances Bradley—Grace Van Houten.

The Epworth league of the Brooklyn M. E. church gave a masquerade party Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clemens on South Clay avenue. There were about seventy-five present and the house was decorated in keeping with the Hallowe'en season. All of the guests came masked and prizes for the best costumes were awarded to Miss Mabel Schofield and Mr. Alkire. A program of songs, recitations and short stories was enjoyed and refreshments consisting of apples and doughnuts were served. The decoration committee was composed of Mrs. J. W. Moon, Miss Mabel Schofield and Mrs. Harry Clemens.

HALLOWEEN SOCIAL AT GRACE CHURCH.

Pleasant Event Given Under Auspices of Epworth League.

Grace church social rooms presented an animated appearance last evening when over two hundred young people gathered to enjoy a Halloween party. The apartments were decorated in the Epworth league colors, red and white, while Halloween decorations abounded on every hand. There were shocks of corn looking as if standing right in a field, pumpkin head faces glared from every nook and cranny while other fanciful designs served to supply fun and merriment in abundance. Then there were several fortune telling booths where the future of each patron was told in sepulchral tones by a mysterious individual and as a climax to this there was a special booth up stairs and it was occupied by the veritable "woman in black" who handed out destinies ad libitum in liberal doses.

An orchestra supplied music at suitable intervals and afforded great satisfaction and then there were various games such as marbling numbers to find the names of apples, peanut hunts and various other pleasant ways of enjoying the speeding moments.

Delicious refreshments consisting of ice cream, pumpkin pie and milk was a prominent feature of the occasion and there seemed to be everything present to make the occasion a success which it certainly was.

Paul Morrison, president of the Epworth league was chairman of the invitation committee; Miss Sue Fox, Miss Stella Shuff and Miss Helen Wood were the committee; Mrs. J. I. Graham and Miss Ida Marsh were at the head of the refreshment committee and Misses Clara Lane and Helen Williamson had the decorations in charge.

TRINITY GETS NEW RECTOR.

Rev. Henry R. Neeley of Mattoon Will Take Charge December 1.

Rev. Henry R. Neeley of Mattoon will take charge as rector of Trinity Episcopal church December 1, and will supply the pulpit November 23 and 30. By unanimous vote the vestry of Trinity church chose Mr. Neeley as rector.

Rev. Mr. Neeley is a man held in high regard by not only his parishioners but by all of his acquaintances in Mattoon and practically founded the church in Kokomo, Ind. which is now in such a prosperous condition. He is known as a persistent and willing worker and he and Mrs. Neeley expect to be established in the local residence about the first of December.

SOME CITY AFFAIRS.

The poles for the power line which will carry current from the city light plant to the Widenham and Daub wells have been shipped from Michigan and are expected within a week or ten days. Commissioner Brennan said yesterday that there are sixty-five poles in the shipment and that they will be placed in position by regular employees of the city. "We will use our regular force for this work," said Mr. Brennan, "because the men are able to do it well and because we have no money to do the work in any other way. The poles will carry three No. 4 copper service wires, which have been ordered and will be here by the time the poles are in position. We expect to have the line in operation before many weeks and that it will effect a great saving in furnishing the power for the wells. In order to make pumping from the wells easier I am arranging to lay a ten-inch water main along Allen avenue from Hackett street to East State street and then along East State street to the square, replacing a six inch main. This will reduce the head against which we are compelled to pump now."

While some of the water the city is now using is coming from the creek, and occasionally from Morgan lake, by far the greater part of the supply is still coming from the Widenham and Daub wells. Mr. Brennan said yesterday that the wells show no lessening of flow, although there is not sufficient water from them to supply the city's complete needs especially now when a number of large enterprises are depending on the city for their water supply. This condition has made it seem desirable to put down other wells on the Widenham and Daub property and Commissioner Knollenberg has been in correspondence with several firms offering used drilling equipment. It is the purpose if a drilling outfit can be secured at a low price, to buy one and have the wells put down by the city rather than by a contractor. The city officials believe that they can save a goodly sum in this way.

Although water has been taken from Morgan lake only once during the past week it is nevertheless true that the supply there is constantly getting lower and unless there are heavy rains soon the life of the fish in the lake will be endangered. There is practically no water above the bridge. The trouble about recent rains is that they have come down so gently that the water has nearly all been soaked up by the earth and has not started streams to running.

While there is some talk still about water and more or less activity in the water department, light is really the main issue just now. "What I am interested in," said Mr. Brennan, "is how the women of the city will vote on the light bond issue, if it comes up. I believe that the majority of them want something done to improve the lighting system and that they will vote for a bond issue. If the ordinance before the council is passed then I will be ready to tell anybody and everybody just what the plans are and what improvements we can accomplish with the money from a bond issue. If any of the Women's clubs want to hear about the matter in order to decide how their votes shall be cast I will be glad to go before them and explain the whole project just as clearly as I can. More and more complaints are being filed about lamps and we are doing all we can to keep the lamps we have in burning condition though I realize that many portions of the city are in darkness. As I have said before, all I am trying to do is to get light for the people of Jacksonville and the plans as I have prepared them represent my best ideas on the subject. I have no ax to grind, am not looking for future political preferment, but believe that the people want light and should have it."
